ENHANCING SURGERY SECURITY

The Blind Spot

Introducing Hawthorns. A doctors surgery in Sutton Coldfield committed to providing exceptional healthcare. Recognised as a training practice, Hawthorns Surgery is instrumental in developing and nurturing the next generation of doctors.

But, located on a busy road, with a large volume of daily visitors and no surveillance of internal or external areas, the surgery was exposed and vulnerable.

The Inside Insight

We immediately recognised the need for an IP CCTV system to cover internal and external areas of the site. The security engineers worked closely with the practice management team during the planning stages to ensure full coverage of the surgery.

As the practice is located on a main road, it was important to ensure the correct positioning of the cameras to prevent over stretching site boundaries. The initial installation consisted of 8 cameras across the site, but the system enables future flexibility with the practice being able to install any additional cameras.

The Visible Difference

The practice is now fully protected with a surveillance system that provides full coverage. The team can retrieve footage quickly and easily and the Practice Manager can view live footage from a mobile app. As the practice grows, additional cameras can be added to scale up, so the practice can get down to business

Connaught were fantastic in helping us to improve security of the surgery, giving doctors, patients and visitors peace of mind. The installation by their engineers was quick and hassle-free, allowing the surgery to continue operating without any disruption.
